owner Steve Andrishak has been seeking out historical items for decades, but recently he found one right in his own backyard. The copper and lead printing plate for an advertising brochure for a 1917 Ford Model T was found in Steve's garden, originally the site of a Ford dealership destroyed by fire in late 1922.

Elk Point prepares for Millennium at prayer breakfast

A vision of ideal conditions in this community in the year 2000 and beyond was the topic of Saturday's well attended Community Prayer Breakfast, hosted by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce in facilities provided by the Pioneer Circle.

The cooperation and volunteerism exemplified by these two groups and a dozen other organizations, churches and agencies was a common thread in the presentations by a panel of ten speakers, who explored every aspect of community life.

Deanna Easthope spoke on volunteers, associations and service organizations, said volunteerism "has become a way of life," and sees a need for the community as a whole to make sure we know what the community needs, to use volunteer work to its best advantage.

Doug Bassett explored sports and recreation, and said Elk Point basically has what it needs, but that this infrastructure must be maintained, requiring both funds and volunteers.

Pastor Jim MacLellan said the churches "can turn things around in a big way" by being relevant, crossing cultural barriers and reaching out to all ages of residents.

Alvina Schuhmacher spoke on the increasing need for supported housing for seniors, as the baby boom hits age 65 and will need facilities that bridge the gap between independent living and nursing care.

Mayor Ed Buck noted that Elk Point is one of few communities where all recreation facilities are owned and operated by volunteer groups. The community offers "just a great lifestyle" which is most important to attract new residents, and must be maintained.

County Reeve Ray Danyluk perceives growth in education, social and community services, transportation and utility systems, economic development and tourism as being key in the coming years, and feels this can best be done by cooperation between municipalities.

Diana Anderson spoke on the need for a healthier lifestyle, and offered a variety of "very doable" ways for the population to become more fit and less likely to need health care.

F. G. Miller Principal Jim Hawkins sees the future as having "virtual schools" where students and teachers are linked by computer and where school buildings are used for recreation and

Moments to remember: FGM Class of '98

The F. G. Miller High School's Class of 1998 celebrated the end of their school years together on Saturday, May 16, with a packed crowd of proud friends and relatives on hand to wish them well. Among these friends were two former classmates, Claudia Naber, who left FGM in 1996, and Andrew McGregor, who left in 1995, who returned to serve as MCs for the evening.

A total of 38 students entered the ramparts of the Crusaders' castle to the music of "Star," by Brian Adams, and took their seats on the gold-draped stage, accented with twinkling white lights, gold flowers and a tinkling fountain. Jaylene Purdy gave the invocation.

Principal Jim Hawkins' message was of efforts over the years, both on the part of these students and of their parents and the school board. "Ten years ago, when I first came to F. G. Miller, we started talking about modernizing. Now it's 99 percent complete, with help from the parents and board members. These students have been working for 13 years on the goal they have now reached. Both of us are moving forth... and I am sure their determination will continue into their future." Hawkins presented scholarships reflecting the efforts of the past six years, both in and outside school, to Christine Penz, Carrie Baumgardner and Rocky Pilisko.

MLA Paul Langevin addressed the evening's theme, and said we "do not remember days, but we remember moments. I hope you will have a lot of happy moments to remember."

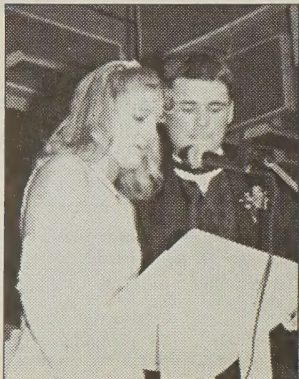

Class historians Stacey Kozicki and Carrie Baumgardner (shown above) commented on many memorable moments in each student's past as each came forward to be presented with pins, letters and pens by MLA Langevin, Ray Danyluk and Bomee Lee.

A slide show, titled "We're Here for a Good Time," showed students in their younger years and today. This was followed by a very special part of the program, starting with slides showing a member of the class who is no longer with them. Bruce Smith died in a farm accident on November 5, 1995. Former classmate James Babenek paid special tribute to Bruce's memory, and said he was "sure Bruce is watching us and is in our hearts. He is still loved and missed dearly." Babenek presented a sheaf of roses to Bruce's mother, Lucille Smith.

Ben Poulin offered thanks to the parents of the Class of '98, who "played a big role in our lives and put up with us through our rebellious times."

Class presidents Christine Penz and Rocky Pilisko (shown above) thanked their classmates and declared their class the best ever. Judy Kim added thanks to those who helped with decorations, and presented thank you gifts to Mr.

Hawkins and the class presidents.

Members of the Class of '98 are: Tamara Allen, James Babenek, Tyson Ballas, Carrie Baumgardner, Kyle Bintz, Zanna Brovchenko, Charissa Brown, Tracy Bueckert, Janice Derewynka, Paul Erickson, Jeff Faithful, Amanda Ference, Aaron Grosseth, Colin Jabush, Judy Kim, Charise Kinneberg, Stacey Kozicki, Darcy Kozicky, Loren Kozicky, Mike Krawchuk, Donna Kulczycki, Chris Lecopoy, Matthew Lee, Christa Lypka, Kristen McMillan, Alicia Nielsen, Brad

Believe it or not, success comes in "cans"

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

There is a saying, "Success comes in cans; failure comes in cant's." It is all a matter of attitude — right! When I think of attitude, I remember one person from history who always impressed me with his attitude. That was Winston Churchill. He rallied a nation to believe in what it could do. His speeches during World War II not only expressed resolution, but a profound peace of mind and a feeling of "rightness." Here are some of his words to England and the world:

"You ask what is our policy? I will say: It is to wage war by sea, land and air, with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us... You ask,

What is our aim? I can answer that in one word: Victory... at all costs, victory in spite of all terror, victory however long and hard the road may be; for without victory there is no survival...

"We shall go on to the end, we will fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be; we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender."

It seems like in human existence, all of us have moments when it would be easy to give up because of the challenges we are facing in life at school, work or play.

There is a story told of a grandfather talking to his children. He told them about his coming to "America" from his home in eastern Europe. He told of being processed at Ellis Island and how he had gone to a cafeteria in lower Manhattan to get something to eat. There he sat down at an empty table and waited quite some time for someone to take his order. Nobody came. Finally a woman with a tray full of food sat down opposite him and explained to him how a cafeteria works.

She said, "You start at that end" — pointing toward a stack of trays — "and then go along the food line and pick out what you want. At the other end, they'll tell you how much you have to pay."

The grandfather reflected a moment and then said, "I soon learned that's how everything works in America. Life's a cafeteria here. You can get anything you want — even very great success — if you are willing to pay the price. But you'll never get what you want if you wait for someone to bring it to you. You have to get up and get it yourself." ... "The difference between where you are and where you want to be can often be summed up in one word: work." ... Yes, success comes in cans.

More of Our Past

By Steve Andrishak
Elk Point Pioneer Museum

A historical item from Elk Point's early days was recently found on Steve Andrishak's property in the east part of town. A beautifully engraved rectangular copper and lead plate, 9 inches by 7 inches, used by newspapers to advertise the 1917 Model T Ford was found near his garden.

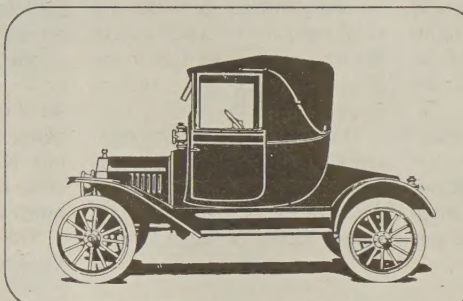

C. J. Markstad originally owned this property in 1916. Here he established a Ford agency and implement shop. At that time the entire hamlet of Elk Point was located in the east part of present day Elk Point. On March 1, 1922 the entire block where the Ford agency stood was destroyed by fire. The buildings destroyed were: the community hall, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Markstad's Ford Agency, Elk Point's post office and Charley Hood's hardware store. The only building that was saved was the Caskey Hotel which was protected by an alley. The efforts of many men manning a bucket brigade managed to save this building.

Some of the burned out

places of business rebuilt on the block, however C. J. Markstad moved to the area where our Credit Union now stands and rebuilt his Ford agency. He also built a store on the corner lot where Steve Wolanuk has his present day store.

This engraved advertising plate clearly shows the 1917 Model T Ford stopped at a scenic spot surrounded by large spruce trees.

From this advertising plate, the following information was derived: "Nature's loveliest beauty spots, her choicest hunting grounds are far removed from the railroads, away from the much travelled highways. Only a car of light weight and unusual power can traverse bad roads and marshy lands in safety. The Ford surmounts all road difficulties and takes you where you want to go.

"The Ford car is equipped with every modern refinement — one man top; a double ventilating windshield; demountable rims, tire carrier and has leather door grips. The horn button is mounted on top of the steering column and the headlights are equipped with approved non-glare lens. Electric starting and lighting equipment is furnished if desired at a slight additional cost."

You can see that the advertising of cars isn't something new — even as far back as 1917 and earlier, car dealers tried to outdo each other so they could capture their share of the car sales market.

Speaking of early Model T Fords, the first one came out in 1908 and the last one was manufactured in 1927. During this 19 year span over 15 million Model T Fords were built and sold.

They were ideal for country road conditions and you sure couldn't complain about their cost — In 1926 you could buy a Model T Ford runabout for as little as $340, F.O.B. Detroit, Michigan.

The Pelechs in Paris — Part VI

By Sherry Pelech
World Traveler

Marshel ventured out on his own again in the morning, to buy bread and cheese and fruit for the day's expedition. We packed a lunch and took the Metro to the 'Gare De Lyon.' After a nice Danish man with very limited English helped us to interpret our tickets, we finally boarded the T.G.V., which is the French equivalent of the famous Japanese 'Bullet' train. The T.G.V. travels at speeds up to 300 kilometers per hour but is so well built that you don't feel the speed, even around curves. The only way you can judge how fast you are going is by looking at traffic on nearby highways. They appear to be going extremely slow, and this is France so you know that can't be right. You can also get some idea of how fast you are travelling when you meet another T.G.V. These trains are maybe 600 feet long but it only takes about 3 seconds to meet one (No, I'm not exaggerating.) It is nearly 400 kilometers from Paris to Lyon and the trip took us about two hours.

The countryside we saw from the train windows is gorgeous. Fields of bright green winter wheat, fruit trees in bloom, tiny villages with massive cathedrals built from rock, and of course the vineyards. Our trip took us through the 'Charollais' region with fields of their namesake, white cattle, past the 'Mts. du Maconnais' with an ancient ruin of castle on every hilltop, to the 'Beaujolais' region.

We had a mere two hours in Lyon before our train back to Paris, so we didn't have much time. We looked around a little bit, took a picture of a big metal sculpture of the 'Lion of Lyon' and ate lunch in a ritzy restaurant. Language is always a problem if you are thoroughly unilingual, but by this time I had learned a few useful phrases like, "Bonjour," "Pardon" and "Do you speak English?" We walked into a restaurant and I asked a waiter where the No Smoking section was. He smiled and helpfully directed us out the door, around a corner and into a completely different restaurant. We took this to mean, "Don't ask."

THE EIFFEL TOWER -- a long way to the top.

The next morning, we were feeling the effects of too much food and not enough exercise the day before, so we

WE'RE SEEKING ALBERTANS' ADVICE ON SOME TAXING QUESTIONS

The 1998 Tax Review Committee was established in February by Stockwell Day, Provincial Treasurer, to examine several tax issues.

THE COMMITTEE IS INTERESTED IN YOUR VIEWS

- Today, your provincial personal income tax is calculated as a percentage of your federal tax. Following discussions with the federal government we have the ability to move away from that system. Should we change it so provincial tax is a percentage of your income?
- If we made that change, Alberta would have more flexibility to make other changes to the levels of provincial tax rates, the number of provincial tax brackets, and the kinds of provincial tax credits provided. What would you suggest? Should everyone be taxed at the same percentage of income? How many tax brackets should we have? What types of tax credits should Alberta provide? Is our provincial income tax rate too high? About right?

These are complex and important questions for the province. The changes being explored would not result in tax increases or any extra tax returns to fill out. The federal government would still collect provincial income tax. The changes could affect how much you pay in Alberta income tax.

If you would like more background on these income tax issues, please contact us and we will mail you a complimentary information package. The package is also available on our website.

WE NEED TO HEAR FROM YOU!

You don't have to be an expert. Any comments would be helpful. Please give us a call or fax and leave your name, address and phone number. We'll get our personal income tax information package to you. The numbers are:

We'd appreciate brief submissions. Lengthy proposals should contain an executive summary.

Please note: names of people who provide their views to the Committee will be printed in our final report which will be a public document. People who do not want their names printed should indicate their objections within their submissions.

TREASURY

Vieux Quebec au Printemps!

By Mrs. Lily Pentek and
Ms Denise Smereka
Exchange Supervisors

Ahh... there is nothing more beautiful than Old Quebec in the springtime! From May 4 to 11, 1998, F. G. Miller High School's French Club participated in the final portion of the SEVEC Quebec/Alberta Exchange. Dawn Lameman, Joanne deMoissac, Julie Young, Chantelle Maas, Melissa deSilva, Jena Bassett, Tanya Pankiw, Julie Whiffen-Peters, Jamie Schnurer, Denise deMoissac, Terina Nixon, Bomee Lee, Carlen Mutch, James Purdy, Danny Wentworth, Kent Bjornstad, Darcy Stafford and Brian Goo from the Grade 9 and 10 French program experienced a week-long immersion in the French language and culture.

Our journey began with a day-long trek across Canada on May 4, 1998. We arrived in St. Romuald at L'Ecole secondaire de l'Aubier where we were greeted and welcomed by our twins, and the students received welcome packages from the surrounding towns.

On May 5, we were greeted at the host school by their administration. F. G. Miller students presented the school with a framed photo of the two groups taken at the Alberta Legislature. We started our tours with a visit to L'Hôtel du Gouvernement and were greeted by Madame Denise Carrier-Perrault, the Deputy Minister of Quebec. Students participated in a discovery tour of Old Quebec by following a prepared worksheet on the various buildings and monuments of Canada's only fortified city.

May 6, we attended morning classes which included English (ESL), music and French. The majority of our twin students specialize in music and their group was practicing for their final concert of the year. Recently they received recognition for excellence in music, and we were thrilled to hear "Star Trek Through the Years" performed during the class. The afternoon was filled with a tour of the University of Laval and once more we walked several kilometers.

Thursday, May 7, we revisited Old Quebec, this time by ferry from Lévi, and toured a different area of the city. We lunched in the Montmorency Park and students shopped till they dropped and showed off many wonderful treasures for family and friends back home. Many Crusaders had caricatures done by an artist on Rue du Trésor, and Kent had a realistic portrait done. We even got to visit the Canadian Coast Guard and were able to tour the command centre, see the ships on the St. Lawrence on radar as well as hear the ships communicating with the tower.

Friday, May 8, began with a trip to Ste.-Claire to visit a factory that produces Prevost buses — both charter and custom. We journeyed on to the Moulin du Beaumont. The students toured the old, water-powered mill which has working saws and a flour grinding mill. After the mill, we discovered the Cadbury secret at a family-run chocolate factory. We finished the day at St.-Henri, at the Cabane à sucre and discovered that maple syrup is harvested using a system of tubing that runs from all the maple trees to the sugar shack. We were hosted by the family that runs the operation and experienced a traditional meal complete with maple syrup. Snow was imported from the North Pole so that our students could experience La Tire.

Saturday, May 9 was a family day and all of us spent the day with our host families. Some of us went to Montreal, while others shopped in Quebec City.

Sunday, May 10, we went to Cape Tourmente, an international bird sanctuary, where we were fortunate enough to see the snow geese as they rested and fed before completing their migration to the North. Later the group went to tour the basilica of Ste.-Anne-de-Beaupré, which is too beautiful to describe with words. We continued on to the Montmorency Falls, the highest falls in Canada. We were able to see the falls from different angles — below, from the gondola, from the bridge above the falls, and for some, from the stairs half way up the falls. Those who did experience the stairs were soaked through by the falls and were a bit uncomfortable for the rest of the tours that day. We did a bit of shopping at the Galeries de la Capitale for last minute gifts. That evening we rounded off the journey with a potluck supper with all the host families. Door prizes were drawn and many students won t-shirts.

Monday, May 11, we said our farewell at the school. There were many Quebec and Alberta tears shed and promises made for future visits and continued correspondence. Some of our twin students even accompanied us to the airport to say goodbye.

We would all like to thank our host families for treating us like family, the supervisors Jean-Pierre and Jean-Francois for organizing all the tours, and the school for twinning with us. It was an experience of a lifetime. It can all be summed up with the three French words we saw constantly throughout our journey in Quebec on the licence plates of the province: Je me souviens — I remember.

How to stop accidents from cropping up.

Every year, farmers and ranchers throughout Alberta accidentally damage buried facilities while digging or disturbing the ground causing serious damage, injury and sometimes even death. Minor Ball

By Doug Bassett
Sports News Hound

Hi, how are you doing? Did you miss me last week? I'm doing fine, but missed last week's deadline!

Well, the Sox had a great week, and it's hard not to brag just a little bit. Winning three out of four games this past week they improved their record to .667 with four wins and two losses for the year.

Winning up in Bonnyville on Tuesday night, starting pitcher Tyson Ballas struck out six batters, allowed four hits and only two earned runs. Then on Thursday night at home, in a return match, the southpaw, Greg "the Bull" Zarowny was on the hill for another big win over the Bonnyville "AA" team, striking out six batters and allowing only two hits and two runs. In-the-park home runs in this game by Travis "Downtown" Brown and Jordan "Buhner" Bassett.

On the road Sunday, the Sox travelled to Wainwright to play a double header, and the boys had big trouble in the field, that cost them nine runs in the first inning. With a real competitor at the mound, Tyler Warawa pitching, they didn't give up and battled back to tie the game, but lost by one run in the bottom of the seventh.

In the second game against Wainwright, Tyson Ballas, with the help of some great plays in the field by the same boys that bobbled the ball in the first game, pitched a perfect game with eight "Ks" and no runs, and the Wainwright boys threw in the towel, splitting the double-header.

This week the Sox are at home on Sunday for a doubleheader with Bonnyville. If you're sitting around at home next Sunday, go out for a drive, take the kids for an ice cream, and stop by the midget diamond and watch the Sox for an inning or two. These guys provide good entertainment, and I guarantee you will see no better baseball anywhere around this part of the country. It doesn't cost you anything but your time!

Starting this week we will be bringing you the Midget White Sox player of the week. Every week we will feature a new player with his picture and profile.

Player of the Week

Tyson Ballas
Birthday: June 15, 1980
Age: 17
Height: 5'11" Weight: 140 lbs.
Nickname: Stick
Position: Pitcher, Catcher
Favorite Player: Ricky Henderson

Most players will think twice about stealing when Tyson is backcatching. He has a real good arm and can gun down runners dead in their tracks. This guy is also having an excellent year so far pitching with three wins, 23 strikeouts in 15 innings pitched, and an earned run average of 1.9. With a batting average of .300 for the year, Tyson, who is usually the lead-off batter, is a good base stealer, and also the Sox's best bunter.

decided to walk to the 'Arc de Triomphe.' It wasn't very far. Avenue Victor Hugo leads right up to the 'Place Charles de Gaulle' where twelve avenues meet, including the 'Champs Elysees.' Talk about your traffic! Cars, trucks, taxis and dozens of big tour buses coming in off all twelve avenues and swirling in a big circle around the arch. Fortunately there is an underground access so we didn't have to dodge our way through any of that madness.

The "Arc de Triomphe" was started in 1806 by Napoleon as a monument to his troops. It is about 50 meters high and we climbed every one of those 300 or so stone steps that spiral to the top of the thing. It doesn't do much for your ego to see vigorous people of about 75 years of age, jogging briskly by you as you pull yourself dizzily upwards. However, you do get an exhilarating sense of accomplishment when you get to the top and no one had to call 911 for you.

The view from the top of the arch is fabulous and we took pictures of Avenue Victor Hugo and the 'Champs Elysees.' Then we climbed down again. Down is easier.

In the afternoon we walked to the Eiffel Tower. A huge elevator took us to the first stage, about 100 meters up. It was very nice. A stable platform and we walked around taking pictures of the lovely view. Then we climbed on another elevator and went to the very top. The very top. Three hundred meters in the air. And it moved. It swayed in the wind. You could feel the floor shift beneath your feet.

I said, "This floor is moving!" Marshal said, "Of course. If it didn't it would snap off and crash to the ground. Isn't it great? I could stay up here all day."

"That's nice. I'm happy for you." I grabbed him by the front of his shirt and said between gritted teeth, "Now. Get. Me. Down."

He said, "Maybe we should leave now."

The ground was good and solid and didn't move under your feet. We walked across the Seine River to a place called the 'Trocadero' where kids were skateboarding and roller blading in a park. We watched for a while but it was a bit nerve-racking. The kids flung themselves up and down steep flights of stairs on their skates or rode their boards down a hill, only bailing out moments before they hit a busy highway. They even had ramps and jumps set up and were holding competitions.

We decided we had walked far enough that day and took the Metro home. It wasn't far but it was nice to sit.

Kick back and relax with a good book from our collection

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

Summer weekends are just perfect for kicking back and relaxing with a good book and the Elk Point Public Library has lots of titles to fill your needs. Check out the latest in adult fiction:

The old Asylum in Blackstone is facing a wrecking ball and an ominous evil tied to the place is waiting to be unleashed in The Blackstone

Chronicles by John Saul. This edition contains all six parts of the serial thriller.

A young Corelian street urchin, Han Solo, is adopted into a nomadic band of space-faring criminals under a cruel leader. Years later he seeks to escape by becoming an Imperial Navy pilot. In order to do so he takes a job on a planet full of intrigue, religious fanaticism and illicit drugs in The Paradise Snare by A. C. Crispin, the first book in the Han Solo Trilogy.

The discovery of a murdered couple in a park forces the residents of a small Ontario community to acknowledge inescapable truths about each other in The Electrical Field by Kerri Sakamoto.

Monument Rock by Louis L'Amour contains seven newly discovered stories and one short novel published for the first time.

A Widow for One Year by John Irving looks at the life of Ruth Cole by visiting three different periods in her life.

Kinsey travels to Nota Lake, California to look into the death of a local sheriff and soon finds a lot more trouble than she bargained for in "N" is for Noose by Sue Grafton. Sign up on the reserve list for this one.

And new in nonfiction:

In 1995, actor Christopher Reeve suffered a riding accident that broke his neck and paralyzed him from the neck down. In Still Me he talks about the progress of his career and about life after the accident.

Understanding Men's Passages: Discovering the New Map of Men's Lives by Gail Sheehy is a concise guide for men (and the women in their lives) as they confront the major issues of each passage in their lives.

A little something for the younger set:

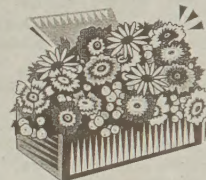

Nancy teams up with Frank and Joe as they discover a link between the apparent murder of one of the coordinators of an environmental conference and the theft of a truckload of bamboo from the San Diego Zoo in Process of Elimination, a Nancy Drew and Hardy Boys Super Mystery.

Hugo gets kidnapped by aliens and taken to their strange planet to teach them how to play baseball in Baseball Camp on the Planet of the Eyeballs by Jon Buller and Susan Schade. A Step Into Reading book.

Coming forward to give support during our time of sadness was very special and thoughtful.

For all the gestures of friendship, phone calls, cards, flowers, memorial donations, food trays, LUNCH and just being there for us, we were overwhelmed and grateful.

We are very blessed to have such a wonderful family and so many special friends.

It has been comforting to know that so many people care.

Jim MacLellan, standing in for RCMP Sgt. Peter Sherstan, said Elk Point will take a "holistic approach" to crime prevention, with "the community policing the community" through the Community Policing Advisory Committee.

Vicki Brooker suggested a balance between industry and tourism with businesses serving both factors.

Chamber President John Yettaw offered closing remarks and thanked all the groups who had participated in the breakfast, including the Christian Community Church choral group, singing two gospel hymns, Marshall Kachmar, Mary Bezpalko and Paul Chamberland, who offered prayers, Gordon Kuhn, with gospel readings, Master of Ceremonies and organizer Sid Holthe, committee members Vic Stepa, Richard Lavoie and Vicki Brooker, videographer Ken Yettaw, and breakfast chefs Sherry Pelech, Diane Balash and Michele Ducek.

ROADSIDE SPRAYING PROGRAM

The County of St. Paul No. 19 Agricultural Service Board will be starting their 1998 Roadside Spraying Program in the month of June. This program is in place to control the spread of Noxious Weeds along the Municipal road allowances.

If for any reason you do not want the road allowance along your property sprayed, you must contact the County Office at 645-3301 and also post the areas that you do not want sprayed far enough in advance, so that the operators have enough time to shut down their equipment. "Do Not Spray" signs are available at the County Office.

Ratepayers that do not want their road allowance sprayed, will be held responsible for the control of all Noxious Weeds within that area.

Road allowances along sensitive crops will not be sprayed until a later date.

For more information, contact Dennis or Larry at 645-3301.
